EL PASO HERALD stablished April, 1881. The Ei Paso Herald includes also, by absorption and succession, The Daily News, The Telegraph, The Telegram, The Tribune. The Graphic, The Sun, The Advertiser, The Independent,

The Graphic, The Sun, The Advertiser, The Inde The Journal, The Republican, The Bulletin MEMBER ASSOCIATED PRESS AND AMER. NEWSP. PUBLISHERS' ASSOC Entered at the El Paso Postoffice for Transmission at Second Class Rates.

Dedicated to the service of the people, that no good cause shall lack a cham-plon, and that evil shall not thrive unopposed.

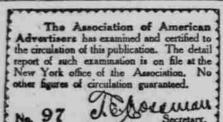

Auto. 1115 2020 Business Office 115

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION. Daily Herald, per month, 60c; per year, $7. Weekly Herald, per year, $2.

The Daily Herald is delivered by carriers in El Paso, East El Paso, Fort Eliss and Towne, Texas, and Cludad Juarez, Mexico, at 60 cents a month. subscriber desiring the address on his paper changed will please state A subscriber desiring the address on his sommunication both the old and the new address.

Subscribers failing to get The Herald promptly should call at the office of lelephone No. 115 before 6:30 p. n. All complaints will receive prompt atten-

CIRCULATION. The Herald bases all advertising contracts on a contracts on a guarantee of more than twice the circulation of any other El Paso, other El Paso, Arizona, New Mexico or west Texas paper. Daily average 10,- HERALD TRAV-ELING AGENTS. Persons sclicited to subscribe for The Herald should beware of imposters and should not pay money to anyone unless he can show that be

is legally authorized to receive it.

Conserving Water Power

EARING on the conservation problems of the United States, a very valuable publication has recently been issued by the Geological Survey as Water-Supply Paper 238. The authors are M. Rene Tavernier, chief engineer of the department of public works, Republic of France, and M. O. Leighton, chief hydrographer, United States Geological Survey. The report is timely, for waterpower development and its governmental regulations are now the subject of much

The principal object of the paper is to show how the French and Swiss republies and the Kingdom of Italy are treating this problem in their political economy and to afford a means of comparing foreign practice with the procedure followed in this country. It is the opinion of the American author that in the adjustment of our water-power problems it will be wise to observe the nature and drift of measures adopted by older countries, which were long ago obliged to consider the same questions that the people of the United States are facing at present. M. Tavernier's contributions consist of a discussion of French, Italian and Swiss legislation relative to the development of water powers, which reviews the legislative practices and their effect on water-power development. Ample quotations are made from laws either enacted or proposed in the three countries.

The gist of the whole matter, so far as European interpretation is concerned, is summed up in a statement in a proclamation of the director of public works of the Canton of Berne, Switzerland, which is quoted by M. Tavernier, as follows:

"It is the communes on which the law imposes the obligation of establishing and maintaining dikes and dams-the people who for years and centuries have had to bear the expense of maintaining the banks and protection works, without taking into consideration the great damage to which they are often subject on account of inundations-who should profit by the wealth that lies in the utilization of water powers * * * It is thus our purpose to have the country itself profit by the water powers located."

Mr. Leighton points out the fact that our present unpreparedness to meet the new questions involved in power development creates some disadvantages that are not altogether internal. In Europe water-power development has become a national policy which can not fail to attract great industries to the countries in which it is properly managed. United States laws that relate either closely or remotely to water powers are discussed and quoted extensively, and legal and judicial opinions are either cited or quoted in full. The statutes and regulations governing power development in the national forests are also given. The waterpower laws of Pennsylvania and New York are summarized, and the situation in several Western States which have enacted water laws is discussed-

The campaign is on. Everybody pull for El Paso. All together.

Did Cupid's arrow get you today? He is out with a quiver full of them.

They have discovered some more land down near the south pole, but what will they do with it?

El Paso has added another active plant to her list of factories. The cement plant is now at work.

The best educational instructors of the city have highly endorsed that school for girls. The business men and parents also endorse it and it is going to be a

For a National Health Board

HE American Health League is an association that is working for a national health board and closer association between the health authorities of the different states-a very commendable enterprise and one in which all Americans should readily take an interest.

Showing the immediate need of a federal health bureau to warn the people of this country of the dangers that menace their vitality in the most common walks of every day life, the league is calling attention to drugs as well as diseases with which every American may come in harmful contact through lack of knowledge of the principles of personal hygiene. Numerous forms of drug habits are becoming more prevalent everywhere in the United States than most people realize, its

The dangers of cocaine, morphine and opium have been prominently brought before the public by the American Health League and vigorous efforts are being made to control and minimize their sale.

Tuberculosis and many other dread diseases might be checked and avoided in America through the educational activities of the proposed national bureau of health, it is pointed out. Fully 100,000 of the deaths due each year to the great White Plague in this country could be prevented, the American Health League declares, while systematic activities by the government might result in lengthening the average life in this country as much as 15 years.

When congress is brought to realize the benefit to human life that must follow the creation of a national health bureau, this project of the people should be

If every American who prizes human life and health will join in urging the creation of this highly necessary bureau to increase the nation's vitality, the success of the movement will be assured.

Almonds will thrive near Marfa, they say. Anything will thrive near El Paso.

El Paso has no room for the knocker; the booster can make room for himself.

It was shortsleeve weather in El Paso while the east was in that shivering Somebody is said to have poisoned Raisuli. Only getting even with him for doing the same thing to a lot of other people. Col. Clem thinks Fort Bliss ought to be a regimental post. El Paso knows it ought to be a regimental post. Now to make congress know it.

With the Banner-Roberts building under way and the Mills building assured. San Jacinto plaza can spruce up in preparation for two more four story structures.

The state agricultural chief is holding farmers' institutes, but he stopped when he got as far west as Del Rio. The El Paso section of the state always gets just this sort of treatment from all the state officials.

TNCLE WALT'S Denatured Poem

HE winter's passing slowly, and we shall let it go; its course has been unholy, with sleet and ice and snow; with threats and maudlin ravings; with wild and weird behavings; and we've blown in our savings, to keep the stoves aglow. The hoary old forecaster who does the geosebone act, predicted no disaster; he made us think, in fact, the winter would be mellow, the kind to please a fellow, not wild, insane and yel-THE PASSING low; the prophet should be sacked. The winter's slowly going, and we shall let it pass; the green will soon be showing upon the trees and grass; cold blasts no more will grate us, and spring, to compensate us, will bring us new potatoes and other garden sass. The birds will soon be singing among the whiffletrees, and, after honey winging, will go the wasps and bees; and so there is no wailing, that winter's strength is failing, that he, with banners trailing, is wobbly in the knees!

WINTER

Capyright, 1909, by George Matthews A dame.

Walk Mason

The Boss Of the Establishment

Libretto of an After Theater Supper Strike.

By Amere Mann,

EAT strikes—began Dottle, tentatively, "No meat doesn't; the conumer strikes," I corrected with a bland ook of self-appreciation.

She fixed me with an ley stare. "That has been n the cold storage plant over the legal limit," I said, essaying to be really springy in my con-

"That?" she interrogated, "What?"
"The optical glacier," I explained. The frosty glance."

"If you intimate that I have the frozen face I can only conjecture that possibly I have been in the vicinity of a frost," she replied, sweetly. "Personally I thought I was looking very amiable.

And she turned two large, round eyes full on me in what is politely called a buby stare. It always veiled trouble.

"Now that you have directed my attention to it, I believe I can note"—
"Oh, then you are one of those canned music canners, eh?" she interrupted. puick to take her advantage to repay in kind. "I thought we were talking about the consumers who had 'canned' meat?"
"If you want to talk real classy you should say 'tinned' meat and cut out all that punning," said I. "This is no case of 'we eat what we can and can what we can't.' In the Spanish war we learned that we can't eat what we can, or rather what they can, and owing to the high price of ment we can't eat what we

"I have given up buying meat for 30 "I'm glad to hear that," I answered. To preserve the perfect figure the modwoman should not eat so much

"Oh, I didn't say that I wouldn't eat," she corrected. "I said I wouldn't buy any ore. My folks won't either."
"Am I to infer that if somebody inisted on buying you a large, julcy porterhouse, just cozing out with gravey, "Well. I wouldn't be bigoted about it." she retorted. "I would not wish to make any one uncomfortable by refusing

"Far be it from me to overcome the scruples of a person of principle," said I, glibly, "Believe me, I wouldn urge

"No. I know you wouldn't," she re marked, witheringly. "Accent on the second person singular." I commented. "Very singular," she sighed.

"WE CAN'T EAT WHAT WE CAN." "I respect your determination." I reded, ignoring her insinuation.

"Of course mest is too high," she ob-served to the stage, where the orchestra was sawing off a few choice cuts from "Toreador."

"Particularly after it had been on ice few months," I assented, "Anyway, I don't care for heavy meal suppers," she murmared. "Remember, if we don't get enough to eat on earth we shall meat on the beautiful shore," I assured. "And not sooner, apparently," she cogitated. "Now, there is lobster, for Insooner, apparently," she

"Where is he?" I asked, but, then, it has been 15 years since that was good for a smile. 'You couldn't call that meat, could you?" she added, anxiously.

"Nor fowl, nor good fed herring," agreed. The inevitable was approaching "And alligator pear salad, surely that Neither meet nor comely for conversation. You've spoiled the last act for me, but you shall have them," I grean-"Hush, the curtain's going up," she whispered. "I'm so glad you don't like meat. You don't, do you?" "I did," I hissed, "but I've lost my appetite."

Copyright, 1910, by the New York

Evening Telegram (New York Herold company.) All rights reserved.

(From The Herald of this date, 1996)

DAYS, FAILS TO AGREE

day

Owing to the threatening weather, Mexico Methodist conference is in the the bicycle races at the track yester-day were not well attended. The heavy wind would not permit the riders to break any records. Lee Bridgers won the mile handicap race, George Borce won both the one-half and one-third of a mile races and Harry Walz carried off he mile race. Capt. Brack is reported to have invented a new style bicycle saddle that is padded in the center. This morning's T. & P. brought in 85 people and a special will be in this evening, with a big crowd aboard. J. Goodman had his pocket picked of $40 yesterday and J. Amstater was releved of his diamond stud, at the theater last night.

An excursion party of 33 people left for Mexico City last night and 15 more leave this evening. Gen. Malloy says that he has been informed the fight is to be held in a afternoon. Mr. Barnett of Albuquerque palloon that is to be anchored over the Rio Grande. The artesian well has been sunk to a lepth of 448 feet. Superintendent Boyard of the New copper, 9%c; Mexican pesos, 54c.

The jury in the case of constable Selman was discharged yesterday even-ing at 5 oclock after announcing to the judge that it could not possibly reach a verdict. It was out 48 hours. Manager Van Vleck of the G. H., arrived this morning in his private car, "Texas," on a business trip

Juan Terrazas is in El Paso on business connected with the new brewery he will build at Chihuahua. The Eggers and party will be up from Mexico City in the morning to take in The climax is capped by a wild eyed Individual from Mexico who wants to tackle a bunch of rattlesmakes in a rough and tumble exhibit. The monthly sweepstake meet of the El Paso gun club was held yesterday and Mr. Behan of El Paso will meet in prizes. In addition to this the ticket a live bird shoot this afternoon for a wager of $500 a side. Metal market: Silver, 674c; lead, $3;

DOG. Man's Most Faithful Of All Friends

Tribute to Noble Animal from a Man With a Big Heart

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 12. though he were a prince-when all Editor El Paso Herald: Having read in your valuable columns the article written by H. L. Red in criticism of dogs, I am moved to

The best friend a man nas in this world may turn against him and become his enemy. The son or daughter he has reared with loving care may prove ungrateful. Those who are nearest and dearest to us, those that we trust with our happiness and good name may prove traitors to their faith. The money that a man has, he may lose; it flies away from him perhaps when he needs it most. A man's reputation may be sacrificed in a moment of ill considered action. The people us, may be the first to cast the stone of malice when fallure has cast its cloud upon our heads. The one absolutely unselfish friend that a man can have in this selfish world, the one that never deserts him, the one that never proves ungrateful who are prone to fall upon their knees to do us honor when success is with or treacherous is his dog.

A man's dog will stick to him in food to offer. He will lick the wounds at times entrusted to mere children. and sores that come in encounter with I have lately noticed several large the roughness of the world. He guards machines running through our streets the sheep of his pauper master as being operated by small boys, with the and collected for next day.

other friends desert, he remains, When reputations fall to pieces and when riches take wings, he is as constant in his love as the sun in its journey through the heavens. tune drives the master forth into the world, homeless and friendless, the faithful dog, asks no higher privilege than that of accompanying him guard against damage and to fight against his enemies, and when the last sad scene of all comes, and death takes the master in his embrace, and tils body is laid away in the cold ground, no matter if all other friends pursue their way, there by his graveside will the noble dog be found, his head between his paws, his eyes sad but open in alert watchfulness, faithful and true even unto death. Yours very truly, I. M. White.

CHILD DRIVEN AUTOMOBILES. El Paso, Feb. 11, '10.

Editor El Paso Herald: It is generally conceded, that the operation of an automobile requires good judgment and quick intuition in prosperity and in poverty, in sickness emergencies, and a level head under all and in health. He will sleep on the circumstances, and for that reason, I cold ground, where the wintry winds cannot comprehend, why the manageblow, and the snow drives flercely, if men of this ponderous machine, which, only he con be near his master's side. in inexperienced hands is always a He will kiss the hand that has no menace to life and property, should be

MEMBER OF SCHOOL BOARD ' IS ARRESTED AND RELEASED Joseph G. House, manager of the 'nion Iron & Brass works and a member of the El Paso school bourd, was > constable Brown. On Feb. 10 the warrant was sworn out. It is signed by Tiburcio Giron. This morning House and Giron ap-peared before justice Watson and the Boy Held for Murder.

Deland, Fla., Feb. 14.—The serious charge of murder was attached to Irv- Dr. C. P. Brown. ing Hanchett yesterday, a boy in his teens, who was arrested by the sheriff a hot chase with bloodhounds. Mary Tedder was found dead near her the club to be in excelent financial connome in Gienwood, Fla., stabbed in 65 dition. being literally cut to pieces. Bloody clothing and a knife were found in the boy's room in the home of William Wooley, an orange grower, for whom Hanchett worked.

WANT ADS BY TELEPHONE. The Herald has arranged to take since early boyhood want ads by phone. Call Bell 115, "reared together" near ?

Auto 1115 up to 2 oclock daily. Your ad will be received, inserted promptly

LOTTERIES IN LATIN

ENGLISH SPEAKING COUNTRIES OUTLAW THEM The Lottery Down in Panama

der the laws in force in the canal zone

no tickets can be sold within that territory, but as soon as the canal employe crosses the line between Ancon and Panama City, or between Cristobal everywhere. It is known that many of the canal employes are wasting their has been no way to protect them. It

Lottery in Bishop's Palace.

as high ideals as the best church-a lottery ticket or making a wager on a cock fight. Of course its is nothing more than a difference in the moral view. The Spanish-speaking countries are simply one hundred years behind

Washington and Lotteries.

George Washington, that paragon of in his day thought nothing of buying a lottery ticket or of presiding at a in one lottery, and where at another time he presided at colonel Moore's drawing. When Westover, colonel William Byrd's famous estate on the James a lottery was conceived, and the fi-experiment. Washington took a num-

Lotteries in Early America.

of an Insane asylum. In Massachusetts, famous Plymouth Beach was repaired by funds raised from a lottery, and even the descendants of the Puritans did not look askance at it. In Missouri one of the first acts of the legislature was the authorization of a lottery to raise funds for a hospital

Churches were built everywhere with

Even the city of Washington itself

wes some of its beauties to a lottery.

In 1793 one was authorized to recruit baths, outhouses, etc., valued at $59,000."

equip the kitchen of one of Washing-time a $50,000 hotel was considered pa-

Lottery's Moralty.

ality of the lottery is merely a question of progress. The Panamanians are sim-legacy of the French regime on the 1sth-mus, it having been chartered at the time when De Lesseps was there. Speculation and gambling were everywhere in evidence then, and it had a prosperity that rivaled the old Louisiana lottery in its palmiest days. Even now when the United States is doing everything in itis power to keep the taint of the establishment from coming even indirectly into the canal zone, it has a splendid prosperity, for, after paying all prizes, all expenses of operation and all trib-utes to the state and church, there is nearly $100,000 in annual profits to be divided among the stockholders. . .

The Drawing.

Each ordinary drawing brings into the coffers of the lottery $10,000, one dollar each for the 10,000 tickets sold. These tickets, in turn, are cut up into five coupons, and each coupon sells for 20 holds all its parts he gets the whole prize for which it calls, or if he holds only part of the coupons he gets one-fifth of the prize for each coupon he holds. Out of the $10.000 received from the sale of tickets, $6,420 is returned in sellers get five percent and the govern-necessary to the proper operation of an automobile, how about the dangers to pedestrians and vehicles on account of the utter lack of mental equipment needed in the avoidance of these dan-

Obviously the handling of automo-

Paso should be stopped immediately.

even if the passengers in a child driven of being maimed for life or killed.

strong hold on the wheel.

ment five percent on all sales of tickets

If the ticket wins and one man

From this it is evident that the morbehind the times whene they permit latial. There were to be two drawings, money raised in this way.

never was held.

ber of chances on Westover.

drawing. One may read in his pritery are priests.

the times.

COUNTRIES.

S FORTS are being made to prevent so that in a completely subscribed drawing the gross profit to the lettery tokents of the Parame letters. Up canal workers from buying the tickets of the Panama lottery. Uncompany is $2,580, In spite of the fact that the ticket buyer stands 100 chances of losing to 64 of winning, the tickets find a ready There are all sorts of systems proposed for beating the game, but it s usually noticed that the man who and Colon, he meets the ticket sellers hus a guaranteed system of getting ahead is the fellow who is always broke. Most of the tickets are sold by 20 cent coupons, the poor people money on the lottery, but as yet there being the regular patrons.

Stories of Luck.

is likely that action may yet be taken which will prohibit the buyers of All sorts of stories of good and bad tickets from carrying them into the uck are rife on the isthmus. times an American gets the grand prize. ly overcome the evil. The lottery has Usually he become such a feverish eight more years to run under the gamester that his usefulness to the canal charter given it by the government of is ended and sooner or later he is down and out. Sometimes he varies this program by throwing up his job and re-turning to the states. In one instance The Panama lottery has its home in the Bishop's palace, and is within a stone's throw of the cathedral itself. a winner of the grand prize threw up his job and prepared to return home. became so drunk on board the ship that he locked himself in his stateroom and In fact, one can stand in front of the counter at the Panama lottery and look died. His remains were buried at sea. A member of the United States senate, into the sacred precincts of the cathedral when its doors are opened. Some of the best patrons of the lotwho had helped to pass the anti-lottery law in the United States bought a ticket and won the grand prize. In another case a prominent official was sitting in a poker game and lost all he had ex-While many of the padres of Panama are as clean physically and have cept a lottery ticket. At last he threw that into the jackpot-and lost again. men in more northern countries, there are some who see no harm in buying When the drawing came around that ticket won the grand prize.

Fair Drawings. The manner of conducting the drawings is entirely fair. They are held on Sunday at the lottery headquarters. Forty little ivory balls are placed in a box. These balls consist of four sets numbered from zero to nine. A child patriotic devotion to the public welfare, is called to do the drawing, and the mayor and two witnesses chosen from the crowd assist. The child draws out one of the 40 balls, and the mayor posts vate diary where he paid 50 pounds sterling for his share of 100 tickets it on the hoard. Then another ball is drawn out, and the result is posted. This is repeated until the drawing is drawn was , the second 7, the third 9, and the fourth 6, the ticket cailing river, was about to be sold for debts, for the grand prize would be numbered 2,796. It will be seen that by this system there is no chance for crooked nances of the Byrd heirs were put into a healthy condition as a result of the work. The lottery idea seems to have com into existience during the 16th century. By 1709 it had reached such a popularity In a single session of the Virginia legislature, 1832-3, there were 12 new that it was included in the government budget as a means of revenue raising. lotteries authorized. In Connecticut one was authorized for the building Every parliamentary budget from that time to 1824 contained the lottery. This was justifled on the ground that there is always a certain amount of vicious inclination and gambling spirit in the ommunity, and since this has to have an outlet somewhere it should be turned good account, and ought to be made bear its share of the public burden. This reasoning was well and good, but it failed to consider the fact that lotteries multiply the gambling spirit a hundredfold. It was this consideration that led to their abolition in England and America

Abolishing Lotteries.

the depleted funds for the erection of Letteries have been abolished from nearly every English-speaking country public buildings. The grand prize was advertised as a "superb hotel, with in the globe, but they still have a It would take that amount today to firm hold in Spansih-speaking countries. Nearly every one of the republics of Latin-America has its buil fights and ton's most modern hotels, but at that letteries. They seem to go hand and hand, and where one is abolished than but for some reason the second one other goes with it. Many of the countries of southern Europe still maintain ly woven into the warp and woof of the nances of those countries that to abolish them would be like abolishing a cusioms tariff in this country. one to be operated. Their lottery is a

In England at one time there were lotteries which offered grand prizes mounting to $100,000. At a parliamentary investigation after one great drawing it was disclosed that there were 50 suicides in a single night in London which were traceable directly to the lottery. Societies for the suppression of lotteries sprang up in America early in They had plenty of work to do, for in he year 1832 there were several hundred lotteries operating in nine of the United States, with total drawings amounting to $66,000,000 a year. The Louisiana lottery was the last one on United States soil, and was finally banished. It moved to Honduras where it has had a rather turbulent existence.

Few people realize how narrowly this country escaped a perpetuation of lot-After being denied the use of the mails the agents used the express Then congress enacted a law under the interstate commerce clause of the constitution forbidding the transportation of tickets in interstae commerce. The constitutionality of the law was attacked, and the supreme court decided by a vote of five to four that a lottery ticket is an article of commerce and its transportation could be entirely prohibited. Tomorrow-The President's Speeches.

steering wheel above their heads, their J. F. WILLIAMS HEADS their hands hardly able to have a THE COUNTRY CLUB Let alone the lack of physical force Waters Davis, President Since Club Was Organized, Declines Office.

For the first time in the history of the Country club the president's chair biles by children on the streets of El at the board of directors' meeting will not be occupied by Waters Davis at its next meeting. One of the organizers car are willing to take their chances and moving spirits in the club, judge Davis has held the office of president since the club was first organized. That he was not elected as president at the annual meeting Saturday night was because he would not permit his name to be placed in nomination for the posiarrested Saturday afternoon by deputy J. F. Williams was elected to succeed judge Davis and he will head the Country club board as president for the present year. C. H. Leavell was elected vice president at the annual meeting and J. F. Primm, tressurer. complainant expressed a desire to wita- The new board of directors chosen is draw the charge, whereupon the judge composed of the following members: dismissed it. Krakauer, J. F. Williams, H. S. Potter, Dr. H. H. Stark, R. G. Crowder, E. W. Kayser, J. F. Primm, S. J. Larkin, and

The committees for the affairs of the club will be announced later. The report of the finances showed MEETS BOYHOOD FRIEND. A telephone message this morning told Charles De Groff that a boyhood friend was in town. Edward Haas, registered at the Orndorff, is the friend The El Pasonn had not seen his friend were "reared together" near Neosho, Mo.

Globe Flour, best by test, and the pay roll in El Paso.

The Boss Of the Establishment

He Decides That His Second Wife Will Be the Ideal Woman By Amere Mann

OVER the top of his evening pa-The glance casual at first, be-ously as a tear dropped upon the sock she had been darning with an air of ostentatious domesticity. There followed two more tears and a guip. Then in rag time accents—perhaps they were syncopated—the Boss's wife remarked: "Tomorrow's my birthday

-I'll be twenty"-Another gulp followed, so the Boss never knew exactly to what age the lady, in the excitement of the moment

"Well, there's nothing sad about that," the Boss replied. "Nobody can call you an old maid, so why worry about it?"

"Oh, it isn't that," the Boss's wife exclaimed. "I was thinking how very

MOMAN YOU WILL MARRY WHEN old I'm getting, and I was wondering how much longer you are going to love me-and what sort of a woman you will marry when I die." Say," said the Boss solicitously, "do you want rosewood, lined with white satin, or would you prefer to be cremated? Let's settle all these little details now, while we're started on the

The wife of the Boss of the Establishment chose to ignore the brutal flippancy of this remark. She had learned that a dignified silence was always best when she couldn't think of anything cutting to say. "If you dare to marry a red-headed woman I'll come back and haunt you."

"I don't care if you do," the Boss splied. "In that event I'd probably glad of a visit from a friendly ghost." "Oh, don't pretend you don't like them," the Boss's wife exclaimed.

You're always staring at them, and once I asked you what kind of hair I should have the sofa stuffed with, and you answered, "I don't care so long as it's red'-you know you did." The Boss laughed reminiscently at

"I see there's no use deceiving you any longer," he said suddenly. "She

"Of course you wouldn't admit it if it were true," remarked his wife, but really I wonder whom you will marry. She'll be light-of course-because I'm not; she'll be stupid, because I'm not; but don't you let her dare take my Japanese prints or Moorish antiques and put up her old family portraitscrayon portraits, I mean." "Well, there's one thing she'll be, and that's sensible." the Boss declared. What's the matter with you, anyhow? Didn't you insist on having your life insured last week, and didn't the doctor tell you you were a remarkably healthy And there's another thing: she'll look up to her husband, and not have the cold, cynical superior ideas you have. She'll have a sense of womanly duty. She won't be a suffrag-She'll know a beef steak from an Irish stew. She'll make her own clothes, She'll-"

"Oh," wailed the Boss's wife, suddenly laying her head upon the table and bursting into tears. her picked out and you're waiting for me to die. But I'll tell you one thing," she added, resolutely through her tears, "from the way you describe her she's an awful frump And I'll live a' hundred years just to keep you from marry.

"Purely an ideal portrait, I assure you," said the Boss. "But," he added, "it's a pity that more women are not like her. There would be more and happier marriages if there were. Nature has ordained that man shall be the head of the race and the household, and the sooner a woman recognizes that unalterable fact the better it will be for all concerned." 'Yes dear," said the Boss's wife with sudden meekness, "please unbutton my shoes." The Boss did as he das told, but he had his revenge next day.

"Say," he observed confidentially to the Confirmed Married Man, "my wife's getting so fat she can't button her own Copyright, 1910, by the New York Evening Telegram (New York Herald Company). All rgihts reserved.

Lest we forget let's keep our money at home and still get the best. Globe

LOSES $180 ON BIRTHDAY

AND THEN CELEBRATES Following the loss of $125 on a check, Marcus A. Weinberg lost his purse con-taining $55 and all on his birthday an-He had planned to celebrate the anniversary by entertaining his friends and the loss of this money did not prevent his showing some 30 friends a good time Sunday at 711 Arizona

Yordi at Guadalajara.

Guadalajara, Mexico, Feb. 14.-Pablo Fordi who in custody of officers, left El Paso recently, arrived here in charge of rive rurales. He was met at the station by a special detachment of gendarmes consisting of an officer and 10 Yordi is charged with swindling the Banca de Jalisco of this city out of $60,000 by means of a corged letter of credit and a raised draft.

The Thiel Detective Service Co. Has opened offices in El Paso at 219 Caples Bidg, and is prepared to handle legitimate detective work for corporalons, mine owners, firms and attorneys. This service has branches in the principal cities in the U. S., Canada and Mexico, They have both phones.